RESEARCH

The screenshot shows the website for the NanoBioMedical Centre at Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznań. The header includes the university logo and navigation links: HOME, ABOUT US, PEOPLE, PROJECTS, SEMINARS, LABORATORIES, PUBLICATIONS, and CONTACT. The main banner features a green and brown textured image with the title "WHEN ART MEETS SCIENCE" and a "READ MORE" button. Below the banner are three columns: NEWS, HIGHLIGHTED PUBLICATIONS, and SEMINARS. The NEWS section has a link to "When Art Meets Science" dated 09.01.2019. The HIGHLIGHTED PUBLICATIONS section lists a paper by Langmuir about iron oxide nanoparticles. The SEMINARS section lists a lecture by Prof. M. Lekka on Atomic Force Microscopy.

The NanoBioMedical Centre (NBMC) is an organizational unit of AMU Was established in partnership with Poznan University of Medical Science, Poznan University of Life Sciences and Poznan University of Technology in 2011.

The main goal of NBMC activity is to stimulate an interdisciplinary research and provide trainings on both master and doctoral level in the field of nanoscience and nanotechnology.

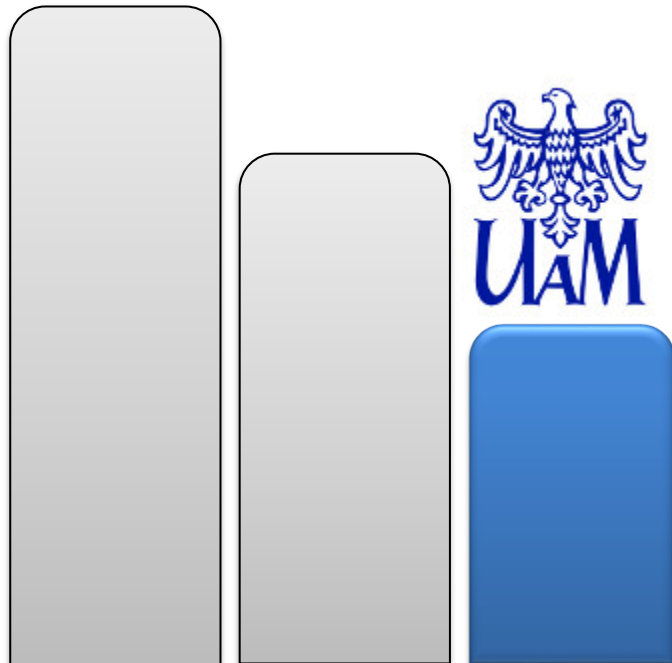

RESEARCH

The main aim of the Wielkopolska Center for Advanced Technologies (WCAT) project is to establish in Poznań a multidisciplinary centre assembling the best specialists in science and technology, focused on new materials and biomaterials.

The research conducted in the WCAT will be also aimed at creating the technological basis for a number of applications of bioorganic chemistry, molecular biology and biotechnology in the broad-based health care as well as for agrotechnological and food industry applications.
